

To whom it may concern, I understand the FCC is proposing to expand the LPFM service which may take priority over current FM translator services. I feel very strongly that this proposed ruling is wrong. My family and I have listened to K-Love for a number of years and have been contributors for as long as we have listened to the station. It has been a blessing to me especially trying to raise teenagers in this world of so-called music that invites young adults, and kids alike to commit sexual acts and to commit suicide. K-Love plays only encouraging and positive music.

I lost my father to cancer this past June and K-Love has been a balm with their music to me especially in the dark times of memories. My daughter had been singing a song in our local church the night my dad passed on, and on my way out to his house, I turned my radio on (K-Love is always on) and the song that my daughter had been singing was playing on the radio. A God thing, not a coincidence. Secondly, our community has enough hard rock, country and golden oldies stations and only one K-Love. We have a large Christian community here in Roseburg that would absolutely miss this station.

We have a lot of young children and teenagers that it reaches out to, and it could mean a lot of those impressionable youngsters would not be hearing the message that K-Love carries to them each day.

Third, K-Love reaches people who are lost spiritually, or who have walked away from their faith and brings them hope and a light so that they may find their way back to God's Love, which is the only love that sustains life.

If the rules change and we lose K-Love, we and many communities stand to lose so much more than just a radio station. We could possibly lose more generations of people to hate, to sexual promiscuity, drugs and yes, suicide. Please, reconsider your proposal and keep stations like K-Love playing years to come.

Thank you,

Kerstin Bartlett and Family